On the bank of the Suzhou Creek in Jingan District, EDGE is one of the new commercial, art and cultural landmarks in Shanghai.

Apart from injecting three major brand-new elements - innovative technology, art and culture, plus sustainable development into the project, EDGE has also enlisted the UCCA Center for Contemporary Art, combining business, commercial, and cultural ecology in harmony. This chic and stylish edifice features sustainable building design that fits clients' new needs and standards for a green working environment and high technology.

EDGE has scooped the Bronze Award in the "Best Mixed-use Development" category at the renowned MIPIM Asia Awards 2021; and has been recognised as one of the best development projects in Asia Pacific.
